

Sinclair
Broadcasting's
decision to air an
anti-Kerry
documentary days
before the election
is a clear example
of the dangers of
corporate media
power.

Sinclair is give the public airwaves to
use free of charge,
but it is obligated
to serve the public.

When large
companies control
the airwaves, we get more of what's good
for their bottom
line and less
education and
truthful news, which is what we need for
democracy to work.
Instead of
propoganda produced
at "News Central",
it's more important
that we recive
substantive news
about issues that matter.

Sinclair's actions
show why we need to strengthen media
ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license
renewal process
needs to involve
more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
